

Environmental Performance Assessment

Nowadays in Asian countries, the environment, health, safety and social performance expectations of our client's core businesses are rapidly increasing. At EBP, we provide services that are designed to understand and grasp the opportunities as well as address the risks arising from these important developments for our client.

From environmental permits to soil and groundwater assessment, from waste management, wastewater/storm water management to chemical management, from air to noise emission, our senior experts have conducted over 60 projects in China within the environmental, health, safety and social due diligence area. We provided critical, time-sensitive reports to assist companies execute their most important decision during merge and acquisition process.